

Marc Larkins is Worldwide Vice President Corporate Governance and Corporate Secretary at global healthcare leader Johnson & Johnson. Larkins started at Johnson & Johnson as Senior Counsel in the Law Department managing government litigation, investigations and internal compliance reviews.

Prior to joining Johnson & Johnson in 2015, Larkins served as the Acting State Comptroller for the State of New Jersey. There, he led a staff responsible for conducting audits, investigations and performance reviews at all levels of New Jersey government.

From 2010 to 2013, Larkins served as Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the New Jersey Schools Development Authority (SDA), where he was responsible for the management and implementation of the state's school construction program throughout New Jersey.

Larkins previously served in various capacities as an Assistant United States Attorney for the District of New Jersey. Larkins began his legal career as a law clerk to the late Honorable James H. Coleman, Jr., on the New Jersey Supreme Court. He then served as a law clerk to former Judge Joseph A. Greenaway, Jr., while Judge Greenaway sat on the United States District Court. In 1999, he was accepted into the Attorney General's Honors Program at the United States Department of Justice in Washington, D.C.

Larkins received his undergraduate degree in accounting from Seton Hall University and his Juris Doctorate from Seton Hall University School of Law.
